

Affordable ABA

Compassion and Social Justice within Behavior Analysis

1. What is known as perspective-taking behavior that involves the operant behavior of being able to relate oneself to another person in terms of similarity?

- A. Compassion
 - B. Empathy
 - C. Values
 - D. Acceptance
-

2. Which response is not indicated as a method for strengthening the behaviors of empathy and compassion?

- A. through repeated practice
 - B. through use of multiple exemplars
 - C. through guided practice and feedback
 - D. continually until the process of generalization occurs
-

3. What is known as socially meaningful behavior change that is overt?

- A. Committed action
 - B. Values
 - C. Defusion
 - D. Compassion
-

4. What type of training is utilized to help individuals build a more flexible, value-based repertoire that can be used for responding to one's own thoughts?

- A. ACT
 - B. Defusion
 - C. Acceptance
 - D. Empathetic
-

5. Compassionate behavior is a _____ that is associated with a stimulus class of adverse experiences.

- A. covert behavior
 - B. committed action
 - C. discriminative stimulus
 - D. learned response
-

6. What term refers to an individual(s) that will perform acts of compassion as a result of their empathy for the individuals that are oppressed?

- A. ally
 - B. social justice group
 - C. oppressed counterpart
 - D. marginalized person
-

7. What type of goals should be prioritized so that a family will be motivated to work on them?

- A. academic
 - B. recommended
 - C. functional
 - D. preferred
-

8. When discussing discipline-specific information to families, what should be avoided if possible?

- A. talking about challenging behaviors
 - B. the use of jargon
 - C. discussing sensitive information
 - D. discussing the family dynamic
-

9. Prior to entering the family's home environment, what should a behavior analyst do?

- A. Call the family to tell them the meeting time without consideration of their schedule
 - B. Prepare material to discuss regarding the family dynamic
 - C. Discuss common stereotypes regarding the family's culture among colleagues to determine best approach
 - D. Educate themselves regarding the cultural norms of each family
-

10. A collaborative partnership will form between the behavior analyst and family once_____.

- A. a team has been identified that can help provide support to the family
 - B. challenging behaviors have been decreased and the individual has acquired some new skills
 - C. a strong relationship has been developed and the family feels as though they are being heard
 - D. treatment goals have been selected that are conducive to the environment
-